

“Great food and relaxed setting with a personable staff is what Vivo is all about.”

For the upscale ease of this Italian eatery with its wood-burning pizza oven, the designers were looking for a natural wood floor but with some high performance requirements. The success of previous projects prompted them to turn again to LSI for solutions. The registered embossing of the Natural Woods Collection creates a realistic impression of hardwood planks with the easy maintenance of vinyl flooring. This product from LSI also has a high slip resistance ensuring the safety of patron and staff alike.

The visual authenticity of the flooring helps to ground the easy atmosphere desired by the owner and achieved by the designer.
